Advice to Mothers

Have you had baby's photograph taken? It's an art to take baby's photograph as it should be taken. To catch his roguish little smile, his pretty little dimple. Such photographs become prized remembrances of babyhood's days in years to come. We have had years of experience in photographing children. They always look their best when we take them. No troublesome posing. Snap them in a jiffy.

No Trace Secured Of Arnold
First Selectman Bradford Says Shortage is Not Known—
Bond Good Only For One Year—Accounts in Tangle Both Years.

It was reported in Montville Monday that there was no report received from William Arnold, who was the tax collector for two years and who has departed with a shortage showing on his books. An expert is at work on them at the present time, and the authorities are looking for Arnold, and have been since Tuesday.
On Tuesday last the board of selectmen had an engagement to meet the tax collector and receive from him an explanation of what became of various payments made to him, which were not credited on the books. The previous Saturday the selectmen—Mr. Bradford, Matt A. Tinker and Moses Chapman—had met Arnold in the office of Town Clerk Charles N. Chappell, where there was a stormy interview, with unsatisfactory results. A majority of the members of the board could not meet Arnold on Monday morning, although they desired not to allow a continuance of the inquiry for too long a time, and they were obliged to fix Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock for the time of further investigation of the tax collector.

The selectmen assembled in accordance with plans at the time named. At 11 o'clock Arnold had not yet made his appearance. The selectmen went back to their places of business reluctantly. They made inquiries at Arnold's house and found that he had gone to New London that morning. Mrs. Arnold expected him back in time for the meeting with the selectmen, about which he spoke to her.
All day long the faithful wife of one of Montville's most estimable young men, waited in the night, listening for his footsteps on the porch. When he did not come she went to the bedroom, intending to go to bed and try to get a respite from the terrible anxiety which she had been experiencing since early morning.

Mrs. Arnold found the note on the bureau and it nearly broke her heart. Next morning she delivered the message to the first selectman, who demanded that the note be turned over to him. Mrs. Arnold acceded to the demand and Selectman Bradford at once engaged counsel, who advised a careful examination of the books immediately.
Investigating the Accounts.
Ever since Wednesday an expert has been seeking among the tangled accounts for some means of determining what amount the official is short. It will be a task that will take some time, for the tests of the accounts can be worked out with definite results.

Selectman Bradford's Statement.
Selectman Bradford said Monday: "Arnold left town with accounts short. There is a lot of hearsay talk about the case, which I cannot vouch for at all."

NORWICH MEMBERS AT SUNDAY GATHERING
Attended County Meeting of A. O. H. Auxiliary—Plan to Attend State Convention.

The county board of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Ancient Order of Hibernians met at New London Sunday. Mrs. Annie Henley of New London presiding. The principal topic for discussion was the plan for attending the state convention at Bridgeport in August. Division No. 26 of New London at a meeting previous to the county board's session made arrangements for the observance of its tenth anniversary on Tuesday, April 23. After the session there was a luncheon.
The divisions of the county were represented by the following visitors: Mrs. Mary E. Silney, Miss Katherine Silney, Miss Katherine Brennan, Miss Jessie Swanson, Mrs. Higgins, Miss Ryan, Miss Julia A. Brock of Norwich, Mrs. Hannah McCormack, Mrs. Mary Cullen, Mrs. Emma Donnelly, Miss Rose Fallon, Mrs. Margaret Cassidy, Mrs. Beattie O'Neill, Miss Katherine Finnegan, Miss Katherine Sullivan of Stratford, Miss Mary Clarke, Miss Agnes Malone, Mrs. William Maloney, Miss Mary Malone, Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. John Brennan, Miss Annie Keenan of Taftville.

FINE VAUDEVILLE AND MOTION PICTURES.
The charm of a pleasing variety of well chosen acts, each one a masterpiece in its class, was shown on Monday at the Auditorium in the three vaudeville turns that opened up the program for the first half of the week, and there was a storm of applause for each one.

FUNERALS.
David Chester Comstock.
The funeral of David Chester Comstock was held from his late home at Montville Center at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, and many relatives and friends were present. Rev. Charles Chappell, pastor of the Union Baptist church of Palmertown, officiated and made an address. There was a procession of beautiful floral tributes. A quartette sang. Asperin in Jesus and Love of My Soul. These personal friends of the deceased acted as bearers: Dan D. Home, George H. Bradford, Paul Glassbrenner, Dwight Kelley, David Johnson and John Fellew.

Rail was in the family plot in the Raymond Hill cemetery, where Rev. Mr. Chappell read a committal service at the grave. Funeral Director C. A. Gager, Jr., had charge of the arrangements.

emptied the coal bins and Monday a large number of tons of coal were delivered uptown.

Mrs. George W. Rogers of Wauwecus Hill has returned home after a week's visit with relatives in Norwich.

The balance of $15 remaining unpaid on the piano recently purchased for the new hall on the Scotland road, has been contributed by friends.

While cutting wood Friday, the axe slipped, and Raymond Winchester nearly severed his thumb. At the hospital it was hoped that the treatment given will be successful in saving the injured thumb.

Harry Winchester, now employed in Plainfield, was at his home on Otisland avenue Sunday. His brother, Raymond Winchester, who has been working for some time in Plainfield, has secured a place in Maine.

daughter, Clara Louise Wuttkey, was united in marriage with Howard James Wight of Hartford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Wight of Arnold street, Rev. E. S. Worcester, pastor of Broadway Congregational church, officiating. The bride wore a charming gown of white silk and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. In her hair she wore a wreath of sweet peas and an albatross going away gown was a grey cloth with black hat.
The bride received many pretty gifts among which was a sum of money from her parents.
The affair was very quiet, on account of a recent death in the groom's family, only members of the two families being present.
Mr. and Mrs. Wight left on the 4.15 train for Hartford, where they will reside. Mr. Wight is a cabinet maker. The bride is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy and was valedictorian of the class of 1910.
Both have many friends in this city, who will extend their best wishes for a happy married life.

Antique Furniture
There is a fascination in acquiring and owning the furniture of years ago. Many fine examples of Colonial days are in the homes of this city, and no doubt there are forgotten treasures in many an attic or ancient homestead near by.
We were recently entrusted with several pieces of ancient merit, and the work of restoring, being completed, have placed them on exhibition in our windows for the benefit of those interested.
Please note the Mahogany Sofa that proved its age by the hand made iron screws, which firmly held the frame, and the hammer headed nails used in upholstery. The veneers in this old piece are dark and richly aged, and have lost none of their original beauty, while the carved feet add much to its attractiveness.
A tip-up Table of real San Domingo mahogany has graceful legs, and is a little gem.
The Ladies' Sewing Table, with Colonial scroll feet, full leaves and ample drawers, no doubt pleased a Dame of Martha Washington's time.
A large fall leaf Parlor table of mahogany, mahogany mellow with age, and showing the light and dark shades of the wood in fine contrast, is a perfect piece, of unknown value, probably the dower for a bride.
The mahogany Card Table, Sheraton design with taper legs and inlay, is a piece that makes one envious.
Parlor Chairs and a minor frame, showing excellent examples of fine cabinet work, are in the same exhibition.
Our facilities are excellent for the restoring of Antique Furniture, and also for Upholstering and General Repairing by skilled workmen.
While we cannot offer the "original" we have in our warehouses several handsome reproductions, including Mahogany Buffets of our own make, Dining Tables and Chairs, Parlor Chairs and a fine set of Tables, all of which are most desirable patterns.
